Law Revision Bills

DRAFTED BY CHIEF JUSTICE FREAR

Passed By Legislature

As would have been supposed by any one following the proceedings of the Legislature, considerable progress was made in the revision of the statutes recommended by Chief Justice Frear in his report and promoted by the Hawaiian Association. At the same time, it is a fact that more than one-half of the bills introduced in the Legislature failed to go through. Of the revision bills relating to criminal law, however, all but one became law. This result is due to the fact that the Chief Justice performed the labor of drafting all of these measures.

Fifteen bills relating to civil matters became law, also seven classes of this class. The latter refer to the duties and powers of judges, etc. All told between 80 and 90 law revision bills were introduced, of which 38 received the Governor's signature. Many passed third reading in the Senate but died in the House, while some were left to initial action by the House reached the Senate too late to be put through.

Chief Justice Frear prepared the drafts of most of the revision bills according to the suggestions in his report. Others were drafted at his request. He passed them on to the Bar Association, which in turn gave them to a special committee. Some of the more important measures were considered section by section by the Association. In the case of others the committee could not find time for their consideration and they were sent to the Legislature without having been reviewed by the Association.

In an interview on the subject with a Bulletin reporter, the Chief Justice stated that of the revision bills which failed comparatively few were of very great urgency beyond ridding the statutes of obsolete laws and inconsistencies. He went over a list of the new acts adopted by the reporter and indicated some that he considered of prime importance.

In the list of criminal statutes 123 Chief Justice Frear gave a leading place to Act 39, relating to criminal practice and procedure. Another important enactment was that amending the law of contempt. The criminal practice act, taken in connection with the definition of felonies and misdemeanors made in Act 33, would greatly relieve the stress of criminal business now coming before the Circuit courts and grand juries.

The statute giving power to Circuit courts to send minors to reformatories instead of jail, hitherto confined to district magistrates, was a beneficial enactment.

Four of the new laws relate to marriage. One of them has cleared up a doubt hitherto existing as to whether first cousins might lawfully intermarry. Under the old law marriage was prohibited "in the fourth degree of consanguinity," and it was a question whether this meant actually "in" that degree or just "within" or a degree short of the fourth. As a matter of fact cousins have intermarried in Hawaii with impunity. By the amendment drawn by the Chief Justice and enacted, the prohibition extends only to those related "nearer than the fourth degree of consanguinity."

Among the more important civil acts passed the Chief Justice indicated those to reorganize the Judiciary Department, providing for empaneling of grand and trial juries, providing for a commission to compile the statutes, to provide for registering and confirming titles to land and to provide for a digest of Supreme Court reports.

An important civil bill that passed only second reading in the House, after having passed third reading in the Senate, was that relating to attachments and garnishments. The bill relating to negotiable instruments, which died on the way through the House from the Senate, was important but not of pressing emergency.

Important Reasons WHY HERRING-HALL-MARVIN SAFE CO.'S SAFES AND LOCKS ARE THE BEST

The concrete filling makes these safes absolutely Fire-Proof and positively Damp-Proof. The solid, angle corners add greatly to their security in time of fire, and form the only solid corners made. The patent BOLT-WORK is superior to any in use, and does not require constant oiling, cleaning and repairs that is acknowledged in other makes of safes. That although 600,000 of these safes are now in use and many thousands have been tested by some of the most disastrous conflagrations in the United States, there is not a single instance on record wherein one of them ever failed to preserve its contents perfectly. They make safes for County Treasurers, County Recorders, County Clerks, Jewelers, Hotels, Residences, Churches and Corporations. We have a Large Assortment of Safes on hand and will be pleased to show same.

Walker's new yacht was launched on Saturday and a party of four started out in her yesterday morning. The Myrtle started out at about the same time and the result was a race. The Myrtle was in the lead at the bell buoy, but the new boat forged ahead on the return trip, coming into the harbor well ahead of her opponent.
